Space heater causes fire

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Ronnie Butler and Saini Muse Vixamar, her two children and two grandchildren lost their home in an early morning fire at 524 West Ave. A.

Fire Chief Tony Julian said when the fire department was called to the home at 7:54 a.m. two rooms of the rental home were fully involved. Ms. Vixamar received minor burns on her leg. There were no other injuries.

The West County Service Center of the American Red Cross has stepped in to help the family, providing shelter, food and clothing.

Where's the money being spent?

"I'm calling in reference to Glades Central's new school "no stadium" flyer that was being passed around during home games.

I'm a die-hard Raider fan and I would like to know why at five home games, with an estimated 4,000 people attending the games at $4 a head, where is the money being spent? Including playoff games at $5 a person, we have the biggest crowds in the state, not counting the away games.

Why can't they buy new bleachers for the new school and fix it up for the stadium?

I understand that the money is being used for other sports, but they should be able to buy bleachers for the stadium and stop having meetings.

Please find out where the money is being spent."

Editor's note: We spoke with Dr. Effie Grear, principal at Glades Central. She said she was glad to have the opportunity to explain this situation.

She says the school board does not provide funding for bleachers, press boxes, concession stands, etc., therefore this money must be raised.

The money generated from the football games is used to pay for referees, travel expenses for the team's away games, police security and uniforms. Football and boy's basketball ticket sales also help support the other sports programs at the school which do not get the same kind of fan support, including girl's basketball, volleyball and soccer.

A group of concerned citizens are working very hard to secure funding to purchase aluminum bleachers. Dr. Grear said this type of seating is quality material, which the new school needs and deserves, but the cost is approximately $75 a seat (or about $75 every 18 inches).

Shame on the thieves

"I just wanted to say how nice the decorations look in front of the Belle Glade Library. The City of Belle Glade has done a wonderful job of bringing the Christmas spirit to our town.

It's a shame some people don't appreciate the effort. I drove by one evening and saw several young boys stealing decorations from the tree.

It's too bad when we try to have something nice, some people can only look at it as an opportunity for thievery.

Oh well, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, anyway!"

There are ways to help children adjust to their stepfamilies

By Robin Jensen
Independent Order of Foresters

Every day, 1,300 new step families are formed. For the children of these new households to be able to understand, and adjust happily to the new family pattern, it takes a lot of helpful information and reassurance.

Here are some tips from experts, gathered by the IOF Foresters, to help blended families get through some of the more difficult times ahead.

Good idea: Accept the stepchild or stepparent "as is". Build a relationship around sharing interests, talents or skills.

Not so good: The stepparent alone defines the relationship.

Better would be to relax and allow the relationship to define itself and improve over time. Set aside specific time for each family relationship to receive attention, especially for step parent and step child to get to know each other.

Good idea: Develop activities for couple enrichment. Arrange to spend time alone both for pleasure and problem solving away from it all.

Good idea: Give children time to adjust before and after a visit or phone conversation with their other parent. The unnecessary loss of closeness with either parent can be very upsetting to children.

Youngsters can benefit from a support program for children of the divorced just as parents can benefit from a support group of their own.

Realistic Expectations: Step families with down-to-earth expectations do better, so expect some "bumpy" living, freely and fairly confronting the issues.

As a public service, the Independent Order of Foresters disseminates useful pointers for parents, such as these suggestions for strengthening stepfamilies. Known as the Family Fraternal, the organization also distributes educational booklets and films to support effective parenting and prevent child abuse. To learn more about these, call the IOF's toll-free number 1-800-922-4104.

The IOF Foresters is a membership organization for families that is open to all, regardless of race, religion or heritage. Organized solely for the benefit of its members, since 1874 the IOF Foresters has provided peace of mind through various services and financial products.

A not-for-profit fraternal-benefit organization with more than one million members, the IOF Foresters is dedicated to helping families through such programs as free fingerprinting for children, care for needy hospitalized kids through the Children's Miracle Network, child abuse prevention programs and parenting education by the Lamaze Institute for Family Education.

become intensified during the holiday season. It can be difficult to see others apparently doing so well, if your own quality of life has been marginal or worse. Although it is bad enough to have plenty of troubles, it is even worse to give up hope.

There have been many songs, poems, and philosophers who have indicated that there is a "time for every season."

What this means is that cycles in fortune are a natural part of living in this universe.

Economically, politically, financially, and emotionally, people have their ascents and their descents in their circumstances. Mortgage rates go up and down, which affect whether or not people can or cannot buy houses. Politicians have great election victories, and then devastating falls from public grace. The stock market both makes and breaks millionaires. Lastly, people in their lives tend to have times of great happiness, and times of great sorrow.

While such troubles are painful to endure any day or month, feelings of despair can you, is that it is important to understand and accept the cyclical nature of change. If this holiday season is not bringing with it joys and blessings, please realize a positive change will come for you eventually. If, on the other hand, you are having a wonderful holiday, I wish you much enjoyment, and hope that you can find some way to tangibly share your joy with those who are less fortunate.

I wish you well and will be writing to you next year!

Poets sought for contest

A grand prize of $500 is being offered for the best poem in a new contest sponsored by Sparrowgrass Poetry Forum. Thirty-four other cash prizes will also be awarded. There is no cost to enter.

The rules are simple: each poet may enter one poem only, 20 lines or less, in any style, on any subject. Contest closes Jan. 31, 1995, but poets are encouraged to submit their work as soon as possible. Winners will be notified by March 31, 1995.

"The contest is open to everyone,

Glades-area to benefit from several grants

The Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin counties recently announced grant awards totaling $275,000 to 58 not-for-profit organizations and agencies throughout the counties.

Grants approved by the foundation's board of directors reflect the needs of the area including support of the Safeplace, a shelter house in Martin County, and the Boys and Girls Club of Palm Beach County's Job Smart to Job Start summer employment program.

Grants also represent interests ranging from the STAR series at the Raymond F. Kravis Center for Palm Beach County students to support of hydroponics and fish farming at Pahokee Middle/Senior High School.

As one of the county's more than 400 community foundations, the Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin counties is part of the fastest growing movement in philanthropy.

The foundation serves as a pool for charitable funds invested for the current and future needs of Palm Beach and Martin counties.

With current assets of $2.7 million, the foundation awards grants to non-profit organizations serving

Palm Beach and Martin counties and scholarships to graduating high school seniors. President Shannon Sadler stated, "While our grants to non-profit organizations are an important part of our mission, perhaps as important is the technical assistance we provide through our Foundation Center Cooperating Collection Library, offering funding information to non-profit organizations concerning foundations throughout the country."

The Community Foundation for Palm Beach and Martin counties is a community foundation serving the residents and not-for-profit organizations of the counties. Gifts and bequests make up the endowment of the foundation. Earnings from this endowment are used to make grants to not-for-profit organizations throughout the counties.

The foundation's scholarship program supports outstanding and deserving young people in a variety of academic settings.

Those awarded grants in our area are:

• Children's Home Society of Florida - for a tutoring program in Belle Glade ($2,500).

• Cities in School of Palm Beach County - for a photography workshop in Glades-area schools ($3,000).

• Building Blocks - to support the Farmer Prenatal Parenting Program ($3,500).

• City of Pahokee - to support recreation programs for area youth ($9,000).

South Bay resident receives CDA

Betty Atkins of South Bay has been awarded a Child Development (Associate) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children. The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession.

CDA is the only major national effort to improve child care by evaluating and recognizing the skills of individuals providing care. The first credential was awarded 20 years ago, and now 46 states plus the District of Columbia include CDA in their child care licensing regulations.

Parents who use child care are especially concerned today about their children's welfare. With this in mind, as part of the CDA assessment process, every candidate for the CDA credential is observed working with young children by an early childhood professional.

In addition, the candidate must demonstrate ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

The CDA credential is having a positive effect on the quality of child care. Its impact is evident in center-based care as well as family child care, the most common form of care for children under 5 years old.

Child care staff and parents wanting information on CDA should write the council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition at 1341 G. Street N.W., Suite 400, Washington, D.C. 20005-3105, or call (202) 265-9090 or 1-800-424-4310.

Letters to Santa

Glades-area second grade students write Christmas wishes to Santa

Santa is making his list and checking it twice, with the help of local second graders. These children from Gove, Rosenwald, Pahokee, Glade View, Glades Day, Canal Point and Belle Glade Elementary Schools, all wrote Santa to let him know what they would like for Christmas.

The letters are not edited and contain all the childish mistakes we would expect from such small children. We were told Santa understands just what each and every child is trying to say and he is looking forward to hearing from the children.

We hope our readers enjoy this annual tradition.

Merry Christmas!
